

OUTSTANDING PERFORMANCE

Bass Coast music lovers were treated to one of the most exciting musical performances at the Bass Community Hall last Saturday night when Melbourne eastern suburbs band Journey Bound made the trip down the highway to perform for the Bass Valley Community Group's live music night, organized by The Bass Valley News.

Despite a disappointing crowd due to a clash with other local events those that did attend were absolutely spellbound by the standard of the three hour performance given by this extremely talented multi instrumentalist group.

The four musicians, Colin Smith, Jose Garcia, Wendy Snook and Sharon Start play more than 20 different instruments between them and the variety in their repertoire has to be seen to be believed.

The audience aged from nine to probably 70 were absolutely enthralled by their performance and many of the audience were quoted as saying they had never seen such a talented group of musicians before.

Few live performances like this offer something for everyone, but this one did, and many people made comment on this after the show.

After almost 45 years in various areas of the music business from record store management, a brief stint as a drummer in a jazz band, record collector and dealer for 40 years, concert promoter and magazine jazz columnist, I can honestly say this was one of the most outstanding live performances I have ever seen.

I would recommend Journey Bound to anyone wanting a great night's entertainment, whether it be for a function, and I am sure there would be dozens of functions they would be suited, weddings, parties anything, where have I heard that before, or simply keep an eye on their website for a chance to catch them playing somewhere. You won't be disappointed.

Thanks for a great night's entertainment.
